Ardrossan Recreation & Agricultural Society (ARAS, or “the Society”) codes of conduct applies to the board of directors, employees and members.

The MEMBER CODE includes the following items:

1. Accept the individual and collective duty to participate unselfishly.
2. Serve the Society by making decisions that best suit the interests of the Society and the community it serves.
3. Prepare and participate in order to add value to the organization at general meetings and functions.
4. Respect each other during and outside of meetings and recognize the value that diverse experiences and perspectives bring to the Society.
5. Speak positively about the Society internally and externally and maintain clear, consistent, honest messaging that honours our organization.
6. Respect any information learned during participation as members.
7. Avoid conflicts of interest by informing the board whenever there is a perceived conflict and abstaining from related motions, discussions, or decision-making.
8. Uphold member commitments by understanding the Agricultural Societies bylaws, be informed and support plans set by the board, ensuring the objectives of the Society are being accomplished.
9. Seek excellence by investing in personal and organizational development and growth.
