

Benefits of Becoming a Board Member

Become part of a small team responsible for guiding the strategic vision and direction of the organization. It is rewarding!

If you are interested in helping to direct the future of ARAS as it continues to develop its own programs, events and activities, please consider serving as a Director on the Board.

Impact – You’ll help make a difference in the community and, quite possibly, in a lot of individual lives.

Training – You will be exposed to opportunities for leadership training as part of your board commitment, whether internally or externally.

Connections – You will have the opportunity to meet some fascinating people. Board meetings, events, conferences, regional meetings, board member training, as well as doing some of the hands-on work in committee groups with others from the community. You will be introduced to new networks.

Context – Serving on different Boards helps to give you a new level of appreciation for the different types of groups and people that make each community and our society strong.

Credibility – A board position is like a public endorsement of your value. It is also an affiliation you can be proud to share and promote.

Recognition – Your involvement on a board can result in great attention, marketing, and publicity for you as achieving a career milestone.

Exposure – It’s fascinating to see how different organizations operate by becoming an insider and gaining deeper insights. You can learn a lot about yourself and others at a leadership level. You will be exposed to a myriad of new things - making life more interesting and experiences more rewarding.
